L'Atelier Verney-Carron®

The quality of our fine shotguns & rifles has generated, since our beginning in 1820 and over the years, an international following from knowledgeable hunters and collectors. It is the reward for all our work and all our love of the craft. It also has a name, loyalty. The loyalty of all our customers, hunters and friends, who have always liked our outlook on life and, more simply, who have always appreciated our guns.

"L'Atelier", our artisanal workshop was re-born from the partnership between us, Verney-Carron and Demas, a Saint-Etienne Artisan. It turns out rifles and game guns which marry tradition and innovation using the internally developed know-how and skills.

Our gun stocks are entirely crafted from raw pieces of walnut wood, then weighted and adjusted in our workshop of Saint-Etienne (French Capital of Gun Making) for perfect balance. Our stocks are all, hand-rubbed oil finished.

Our barrels are made in-house from fine steel with added chrome and molybdenum and follow the slow traditional polishing step and rust blueing process. Each and every rifle is individually regulated by actual firing in our shooting tunnel. A factory target comes with every double rifle we make.

Highly detailed, stunningly lifelike game scenes, deep-relief floral borders, extremely fine rose bouquets, deep-chiselled relief Royal-style borders or contrasting gold inlays are a sample of what our team of engravers can do for your gun.

Our responsibility till this time is to achieve the unmistakable « feel » of an exclusive bespoke firearm.

The Azur side by side, created by Paul Demas has a very high strength forged steel receiver (35 NCD 16) with a revolutionary design that helps to do away with :

- all shearing when firing thanks to its interior cross brace and its receiver closed at the front,
- all elongation thanks to its double interior longitudinal brace giving it considerable solidity.

The use of 35 NCD 16 steel makes it possible to manufacture fine receivers that absorb very high pressure levels (5,700 bars) thanks to their triple hooks, their triple recoil face and their wide (24 mm) and thick (6 mm), flat lock. It is the strongest type of steel currently used to make double rifles receivers.

The Azur gun also has gas release plugs, an external reinforcing element on the big bore barrels, hammer ejectors or twin-rod extractors, a triple pin plate, a highly attractive design, and guaranteed ballistic quality.

The interior system of suspended sears enables trigger pull weight adjustment on demand from 2 kg up. All the mechanical elements are fully hand polished.

The receiver and its mechanism are fully machined and assembled in our workshops for higher levels of quality at attractive prices.

The gun is carefully balanced to ensure exceptional ease of handling and comfort. For rifles, barrel length varies from 55 to 65 cm and the weight ranges from just 3kg (6,6 lbs) to 8 kg (17,6 lbs) for African bores (600 NE).

The Azur gun is also available in several shotgun gauges, from 410 to 12.

All these extra features give the Azur gun a very high level of quality. The model is protected by several patents.
